Employer's Guide to the Best Doctors Occupational Health Institute

What you need to know

The treatment of work-related injuries requires physicians who are not only expert in the care of musculo-skeletal injuries, but they also must understand the importance of helping your employees return to rewarding productive lives. The quality of care your employee receives in the first few weeks of injury will have a tremendous influence on whether he or she is able to return to productivity safely or suffers from a prolonged disability.

About the Best Doctors Occupational Health Institute of Northern New England

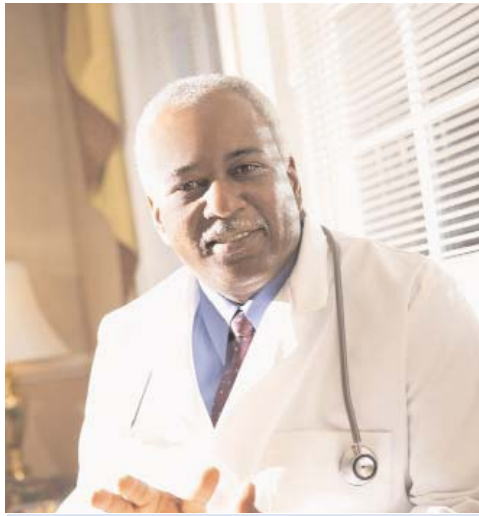

BDOHI is a medical community of physicians and allied health professionals who have been selected by their peers for clinical excellence and an understanding of productivity issues so important to work-related injury. The mission of BDOHI is to help your work injured employees get the best care possible and to assure a safe recovery and a prompt return to productivity.

How to help your employees benefit from the Best Doctors Occupational Health Institute

- Identify and encourage the use of the most convenient BDOHI Primary Occupational Health Center for your employees. For emergent situations dial 911.
- In a public viewing area, post the name, address and phone number of the most convenient Primary Occupational Health Center for easy access to your employees.
- Report all work related injuries in accordance with current Primex protocol.

Remember

Your employees are your most important resource. Our mission is to help you, help them when injured on the job.

*Helping Injured Employees,
One Patient at a Time*

“45% of patients are misdiagnosed. That is just about one out of two. Patients deserve much better and that is why we have invested our resources to develop the Occupational Health Institute”

Dr. Kenneth H. Falchuk, Professor,
Harvard Medical School

The Best Doctors Occupational Health Institute (BDOHI) is designed to assure that injured employees are able to access the same quality of care as their CEO and are able to return to rewarding and productive lives safely and efficiently.

BDOHI is a community of physicians and allied health professionals dedicated to improving quality of care for employees with work-related injuries.

Important Benefits for both employees and employers

Affiliated Primary Occupational Health Centers throughout the State

Affiliated Occupational Health Centers specialize in the treatment of work-related injuries. They understand the importance of working with the employer, the injured employee and the insurer to assure a safe and timely return to modified or full duty.

Best Doctors Occupational Health Affiliated Specialists

All doctors are not the same. When injured you want and deserve the very best care. Physicians affiliated with the Occupational Health Institute have been selected by their peers as being the "best" in their clinical specialties for maintaining and improving patient productivity.

Nurse Advocacy

There is probably nothing as concerning as a severe injury and certainly nothing more confusing than how one finds qualified and excellent healthcare. BDOHI nurses work with moderate to severely injured employees from the time of injury helping them find the right care quickly, answering clinical questions they or their family may have and seamlessly coordinating efforts with the claim management team.

Medical Leadership

The medical leadership of the Occupational Health Institute is provided by nationally renowned physicians.

Careful Attention to the injured employee "at risk"

Studies have shown that employees with histories of smoking, obesity, depression or previous abuse are at greater risk for compromised recovery. Working with our insurance partners, "at risk" employees are identified at the time of injury to minimize the impact on recovery and return to productivity.

Compassion, Caring, Clinical Excellence and a focus on recovery and Return to Work

Our job is to help injured employees and their families get the care they both need and deserve. Our success is helping your employee recover as quickly as possible and enabling them to once again become a productive member of your work team. That benefits both employees and employers.

Best Doctors, Inc.

Recognized as “changing the face of American medicine” by CBS 60 Minutes, Best Doctors is the world leader in connecting patients to the best medical care. Our programs help dramatically improve the quality of care by making sure patients get the right diagnosis and the right treatment the first time.

Founded in 1989 by doctors affiliated with Harvard Medical School to provide doctor-to-doctor consultations for complicated cases and currently serves over 260 clients representing 10 million lives in 30 countries.
